Army parts lookup

NSN Search Tool What is an NSN number? An NSN number, also known as the National Number of Shares or NATO Stock Number, is a 13-digit numeric code for determining standard material elements. They are recognized by all NATO countries and the U.S. Department of Defense. It is most commonly used to supply, store, locate, and track items. There is a brief NSN description and their story on Wikipedia. Click here to browse our Wikipedia article database We have over 14 million unique files in our database to search for. You can search by part number or NSN number. National stock numbers, or NSNs, are 13 serial numbers assigned to all components sourced and sourced in the federal supply chain. Defensive parts can range from aircraft bearings to fuselage components. Components must comply with strict military standards (MEMBER States) that take into account the hostile conditions in which the components must operate. For example military bearings should be able to withstand high friction levels of a helicopter rotor drive. Asap Distribution, owned and operated by ASAP Semiconductor, has a stock of over 2 billion NSNs including those used in the defence industry. We encourage you to use our defense components database to get your place in no time. All our parties are subjected to numerous phases of quality control that verify military standards. We are the only independent distributor with no china sourcing policy. We source only from the manufacturers we trust. In return, our customers trust us to solve all their parts supply problems.
